

Douglas Park

The sun kisses the ground

As shadows of footsteps race to the land of adventure

As young minds swing back and forth

With eyes on a higher destination

The sky has no limit

And young bodies hold the courage to sprout wings

Hope creates the imagination

And imagination births dreams

For the playground

Is the stomping ground of doubt

And the stage of opportunity

And freedom

As young soles stand on rocks

That are mountains and declare their greatness.

~Aniyah Orr Howard