Douglas Park

The sun kisses the ground
As shadows of footstep race to the land of adventure
As young minds swing back and forth
With eyes on a higher destination
The sky has no limit
And young bodies hold the courage to sprout wings
Hope creates the imagination
And imagination births dreams
For the playground
Is the stomping ground of doubt
And the stage of opportunity
And freedom
As young soles stand on rocks
That are mountains and declare their greatness.

~Aniyah Orr Howard